

Blackberries

Blackberries are the improved form of our native dewberries and since they are nearly native, they do particularly well here in South Central Texas.

One type of blackberry to consider is the Apache Blackberry.

Botanical Name: Rubus x 'Apache'

Type: thornless vine

Height: 5-8 feet

Light: Full sun

Moisture: water regularly until established

Soil: adaptive

Blooms: white

Prolific producer of larger, glossier black fruit than other thornless varieties.

Excellent for preserves.
