

Texas Mountain Laurel

Botanical Name: Dermatophyllum secundiflorum

Type: Tree

Height: 20 feet

Light: sun, part shade

Moisture: Moderate to low water and feeding

Soil: Any well drained soil

Blooms: Fragrant, purple, wisteria-like flower in spring. Actually, smell like grape soda.

Slow-growing, dense foliage unless trimmed into tree form.

Native to Texas, Mexico and southwestern US.